

maars | hotels and suites

A person's well-being is largely determined by the quality of their environment, by the way in which an interior stimulates the senses: not just each sense individually but also the interdependence between them. Maars understands that human well-being stems from the point where emotional value, form and function meet, and then translates this science into integrated solutions, into light and sound, into warmth and coolness, into fresh air and scent, and into innovations that turn your presence in a room into a sensual experience. That is the art of well-being.

Maars develops worldwide high quality and distinctly advanced partitioning systems for clients all over the world. Our partitioning systems are uniquely versatile and are currently used in offices, airports, hospitals, schools and hotels.

A modern room for modern times

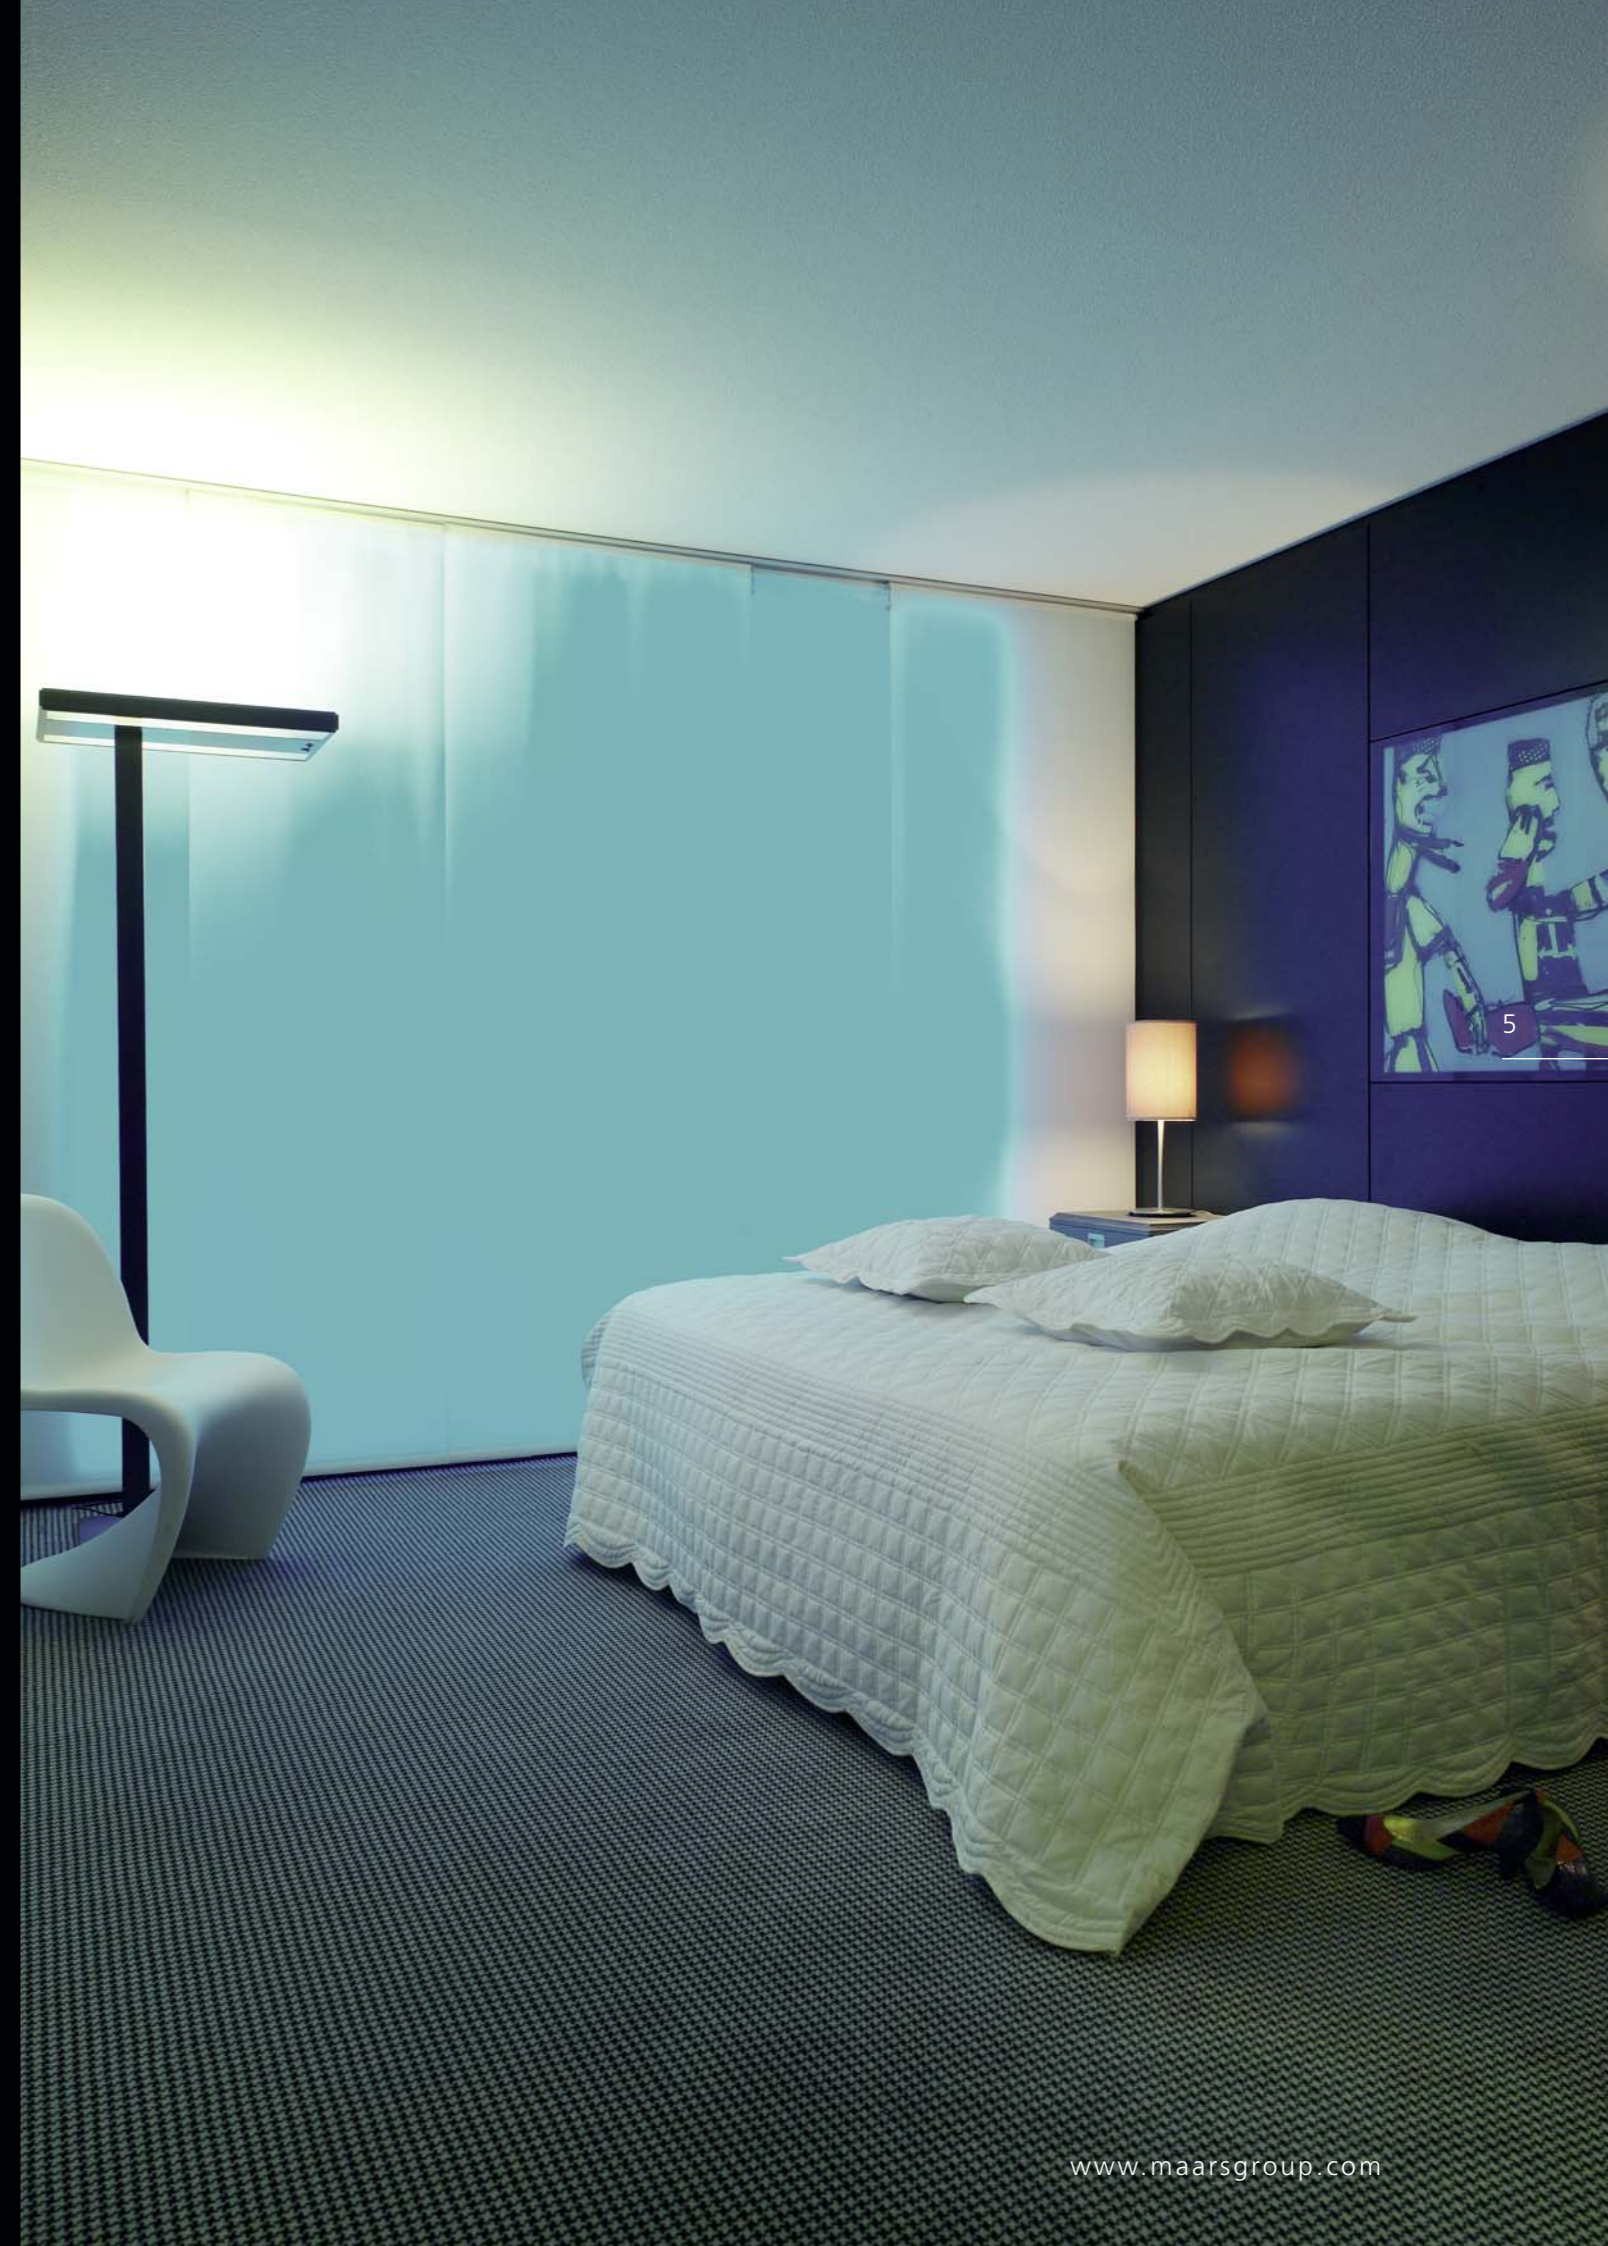

There are certain things that you come to expect when staying in a hotel. You expect to feel welcome, to have a comfortable room, and to be the centre of attention where all your needs will be catered to. The requirements of the room constantly change and the way they are provided also will. It is our belief that while the requirements of the room will seldom change, the way in which they are provided will. We believe that this creates the opportunity to provide your customer with more than a room, we provide them with an experience.

A home away from home

As far as Maars is concerned, a hotel room is not simply a box with a bed and a shower. You should be able to move around freely and comfortably, without restrictions; as you would in your own home. With our advanced systems a perfect finish, without seams, can be achieved.

4

maars | hotels and suites excel in

design

- Light, air, image, sound, cupboards, sanitary fittings, cosy fireplaces; skinning and climate units are all interchangeable and fully, systematically integrated into relocatable partitioning systems
- Interiors with tremendous character: an impressive home away from home!
- The up- or down- gradable modules are suitable for all accommodation types

quality and maintenance

- No extra fittings in the ceilings or floors are required
- Theft and vandal proof, with a robust design
- Surpassing physical performance offering stability, sound and fire barriers within a ten-centimetre thick wall
- Easy instant replacement also in the event of damage
- No condensation inside walls

know-how

- Years of experience in designing, producing and installing high-end accommodations, including hospitals
- Modern, large-scale, international production facilities are privately managed
- State of the art products thanks to ambitious R&D performance

economic solutions

- Easy and quick change of floor plans
- Greater efficiency per m²
- Higher construction speed in comparison with traditional building methods
- Design and mobility ensure low environmental burden
- Optimal and economical use of gross floor area
- Last-minute design, ordering and installation as standard, ensuring ample flexibility and speed of construction
- Reduced cleaning costs
- Reduced restyling and refurbishment costs.

Building blocks for a warm welcome

Maars gives hotel guests an environment in which everything has been thought of, where every single detail is perfect. The next page presents an overview of our technical options, all of which can easily be integrated into the various partitioning systems. Experience modular solutions only Maars can offer.

Multimedia

Integrating a flat screen within a partition is not all that difficult. With maars | multimedia this integration reaches a whole new level. Incorporating facilities not only for TV and DVD, but also for laptops and PowerPoint presentations.

Dynamic lighting

The alteration of day and night, light and dark, is vital to general well-being. maars | dynamic lighting allows near-replication of natural conditions.

Cupboards

Functionality and beauty. This is what defines Maars. A prime example is the maars | cupboard, comprising integrated storage cupboards that make optimal use of space.

Air care

Hotel air is required to meet high standards. Maars offers a unique, integrated system for safeguarding and optimising atmospheric conditions: maars | air care.

Sound panels

A high quality sound system is part of the standard hotel equipment. Maars delivers solutions that are ingeniously integrated into partitions: maars | sound.

Fire

Create the cosy ambiance of a fireplace anywhere in the hotel with maars | fire. An ingenious solution with no chimney required.

Texsteely

A wall with colours and patterns and the character and feel of textiles. All this is possible with maars | texsteel, a special technique for hotel interiors.

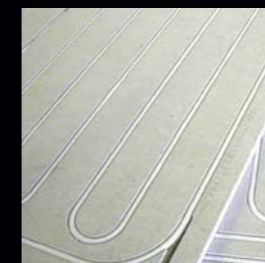

Impressions

An interior that inspires a sense of well-being. This is the idea behind maars | impressions, with walls that recreate the feel of natural resources.

Bathroom

This state of the art bathroom is top quality. All sanitary fittings, including bath and toilet, are completely integrated into the system panels: maars | bathroom.

Comfort

No cold drafts and exactly the right temperature. Welcome to maars | comfort, offering integrated air conditioning units for the perfect living environment.

The technique behind hospitality

Maars develops the best in interior technology. Yet this is not our most important goal. Glass elements and partition profiles, audio and video solutions, however sophisticated, are simply a means to an end: to give the hotel guest a royal welcome; to embrace the visitor in a warm envelop; this is our true goal.

En route to new solutions

Maars is not one for standing still, and our Research and Development department is always seeking new hotel solutions. For us, the guest's preferences are paramount. Why not let guests themselves determine how the room is lit, for example, or how it is decorated with works of art? Here, too, our motto is: Create your environment.

18

Marcel de Graaf | manager R&D

Create your environment

19

www.maarsgroup.com

Shaping an ambition

Maars creates environments in which guests feel at home and can truly be themselves. Our partitioning systems have become synonymous with style, class, ambiance and comfort. Maars solutions always starts from the idea that technology is something that should enhance life, and this has shaped our ambition: to create conditions for maximum well-being.

20

21

Create your environment

Luxury and harmony can only be experienced in surroundings that are just right. In interiors that make guests feel entirely at home. Maars achieves precisely this, with partitioning systems that pair personal comfort with pure refinement. The result is an environment in which the guest's wishes and dreams become reality.

22

Maars strives for environmentally friendly production methods out of respect for our surroundings and for the future of our children.

23

Create your environment

+31(0)341 46 52 11 - www.maarsgroup.com